Bel Announces Global Distribution Agreement with Arrow Electronics

JERSEY CITY, NJ -- (Marketwired) -- 12/14/16 -- Bel Fuse Inc., (NASDAQ: BELFA) (NASDAQ: BELFB), a leading global manufacturer of products that power, protect and connect electronic circuits, announced that it has executed an agreement with Arrow Electronics, providing for worldwide distribution and support for all current and future Bel subsidiaries in numerous product areas.

Bel offers a broad portfolio of products across three major product groups including Power Solutions and Protection, Connectivity Solutions and Magnetics Solutions and has more than 5 decades of experience working alongside Arrow to provide innovative solutions and services to the market. The new global agreement expands the range of Bel's product offering to Arrow and replaces the North America agreements previously in place with many of Bel's subsidiaries, allowing Bel more access to Arrow's expansive reach into international markets.

"In order for Bel to accelerate our global growth, it is critical to expand our relationship with Arrow which will allow us to grow across multiple technologies and markets. Arrow provides excellent value to their suppliers and will enable us to reach more customers with different products that we do offer," says Dan Bernstein, President and CEO of Bel Fuse Inc.

"Arrow is proud to expand its relationship with Bel through this global agreement," said David West, Senior Vice President of Global Marketing and Engineering at Arrow. "This expansion greatly enhances our mutual efforts to support customers with quality, cost-competitive solutions across the breadth of Bel's offering -- from interconnect to circuit protection and beyond."
